

A black and white photograph of a rosary. The rosary consists of a long chain of dark, round beads. There are several smaller beads interspersed along the chain, likely representing the 'Our Father' and 'Hail Mary' prayers. At the bottom of the chain is a large, ornate cross. The cross has a central figure, possibly a crucifix, and is decorated with intricate carvings. The background is plain and light-colored.